HAS BEEN DEAD SINCE MONDAY

James Howard's Body Found At Fordsville.

He Had Been Married Three Times but Was Living Alone at Time of Suicide.

Absence from his usual haunts about town caused fears concerning James Howard, an aged and respected citizen of Fordsville, which were found to be well founded, when his dead body was found at his home, with a pistol wound in his forehead.

Mr. Howard, who was seventy-six years of age, lived alone in the residence section of the little town. He came down into the business part of the place practically every day, unless indisposed, but scarcely ever missed two days consecutively. Comment was made upon the streets on Wednesday afternoon that the old gentleman had not been seen upon the streets for two days about his stopping places, and the attention of City Marshal Burton was called to his absence.

Marshal Burton inquired of Ollie Wilson, a son-in-law of Mr. Howard, as to when he had last seen the old man. Wilson recalled that he had not seen him in several days and suggested that they walk up to the residence. Wilson had a key to one of the doors of the house, which he found locked.

Upon gaining admission and searching the rooms the body was found. Mr. Howard had undressed himself as though to retire at night. Examination of the body disclosed a pistol wound immediately over the right ear. A 32 caliber revolver had been used by Howard in causing his own destruction. It is believed that the deed was committed on Monday night.

Mr. Howard had been married three times. Two of his wives are dead and the third had separated from him about a year ago. It was thought by those familiar with the old man's life and habits that he had become despondent over his domestic affairs and decided to put an end to his troubles. He had five children, two of whom are living in Alaska, two at Hardinsburg and one, Mrs. Ollie Wilson, residing in Fordsville. His wife resides in Fordsville. She is a sister of Mrs. John G. Bell, of Owensboro.

LATER—Dr. A. B. Riley, county coroner, was called to Fordsville Thursday morning and found that the death of Mr. Howard was a plain case of suicide, and no jury was empaneled. Interment was held at Fordsville yesterday afternoon.

Positions Plentiful.

Positions for young people are so plentiful that even one student in the last ten years has not left the Bowling Green University without a position after completing the combined course of that school.

SUGGESTION FOR GOOD ROAD DAYS

Commissioner Terrell Urges All Citizens To Take Part In Work.

Frankfort, Ky., Oct. 7.—Commissioner of Roads R. C. Terrell today sent out a letter to County Judges and engineers urging them to arouse local interest in good roads days, October 24 and 25, and giving instructions in regard to the character of work to be done. He suggests that fresh dirt should not be thrown on earth roads unless the split log drag is used. But ditches should be cleaned shoulders removed and weeds and underbrush be cut.

He advises them to district their roads and appoint leading citizens as superintendents over districts with instructions to see every one in the district and direct them to be on hand with teams and tools, all taking their lunches and spending the day on the work.

People in cities, he said, can aid by actually working or contributing funds and automobile owners can haul workers and tools. Commissioner Terrell will appeal to commercial organizations to take up the movement.

Commissioner Terrell will supervise part of the work, either in Franklin or Fayette county. Gov. McCreary, it has been decided, will do nothing theatrical in connection with the work. He said he had done his part by issuing the proclamation and much of the details of the movement is left to Commissioner Terrell, who was one of those responsible for urging the Governor to issue the proclamation.

Centralia, Pa., Oct. 8.—Highly nervous and with his feet badly swollen because of reaction following his eight days entombment Thomas Toshesky, who was liberated from his underground prison in the Lehigh Coal Company's Cottletal collier last Saturday, is in a serious condition at his home to-day.

Toshesky had been booked by a theatrical agent to deliver a number of talks through an interpreter of his experience in the 100-foot deep coal cell. The prospective circuit included towns in the coal region. His sudden illness caused postponement of the plans.

A number of Mr. Scott's renters have also received the warning by the way of letters. All the letters bear the Fulton, Ky., postmark and were written in red ink. Mr. Scott owns 1,500 acres of land near McConnell, this county, a few miles from Fulton.

CHARLES L. TAYLOR IS RESIDENT AGENT

Ohio County Boy Has Responsible Position in Hopkins County.

The Madisonville Hustler says:

Mr. Chas. Taylor, the resident farm demonstration agent for Hopkins county, has arrived and is familiarizing himself with the field and meeting the people. For the past ten days he has been visiting a number of agents in the state getting a line on their work and methods. Dr. Fred Mutchler, State Farm Demonstration Agent, will be here Wednesday of this week to spend a few days with Mr. Taylor and help him get started in his new field.

Mr. Taylor was reared on a farm in Ohio county, where he learned farming in all its details, which will be of great service to him for a farm is the only place where practical farming can be learned. After attending school in Hartford for a short time he taught in the county schools and from here he went to Bowling Green, where he entered the Normal School. Here he spent three years, much of the time having work under Dr. Fred Mutchler. This work consisted in studying how to make the best yields with the most economic methods of cultivation, especially as to corn, wheat and the small fruits.

After leaving the Normal School he matriculated in the University of Wisconsin as an agricultural student. This work broadened him for the work he will take up here. Plots of ground were used for the experiments carried on in the investigation of plant food available in different kinds of soil.

More Positions than Men.

Lucrative places are far more numerous than qualified young men and women. A good place awaits every person who completes the combined course in the Bowling Green Business University.
